Author

Stefania Taviano

Biodata

Stefania Taviano is Associate Professor of English and Translation at the University of Messina, Italy since 2002. Her main research areas include a translation approach to disability, the relationship between migration, translation and human rights, translational and polylingual practices in global movements, such as Global Hip Hop and art activism, as well as the spread of ELF and its impact on translation, language and translation pedagogy. She is a professional translator and interpreter.

She is also President of the onlus Tree ali [Three wings], a non-profit association and centre offering rehabilitation to children with genetic disorders.

Contacts

stefania.taviano@unime.it

Words

dis/ability published